PROFILE

I make social content and video ads. I took over the social media for Orwells, a highly acclaimed restaurant in Henley-on-Thames, three months ago, planning, shooting, editing and posting across every platform, and it has had over 400,000 views since. Before starting my own AI studio, Forvr Studios, I was creative director on a US brand account at Hypervail, making around 50 video adverts for live Meta campaigns from hook and script through to the final edit. Restaurant work taught me to keep a high standard under pressure and communicate clearly in a team. I am now looking for a full-time role making content every day within a marketing team.

EXPERIENCE

Founder · Forvr Studios — Mar 2026 – present
Reading · independent AI studio

- Constructed and scaled an independent AI studio, designing a visual identity and design language.
- Built my own outreach system with Claude Code that finds and qualifies brands every morning and lines up the messages and follow-ups, then pitched those brands myself.
- Managed end-to-end operations, including financial budgeting and project delivery, and landing my first paying client.
- Frequently communicating with clients in order to uphold my commitment to the quality of work expected.

Pastry Chef & Social Media Manager · Orwells — Apr 2024 – present
Henley-on-Thames · restaurant

- Collaborating directly with Michelin-star chefs, developing in-depth knowledge of food, ingredient sourcing and service excellence.
- Took over the social media in August 2026: over 400,000 views in three months, organic and paid.
- Reel views more than doubled by October, planning posts around bookings from AI analysis of 2,800 posts.
- Providing insight and helping to plan events, including the Thameside Social pop-up, a month-long event where we served up to 300 covers a day.

Sous Chef · Thameside Social — Jun – Jul 2026
Henley-on-Thames · pop-up event

- Managed daily shifts, supervising workers, and running the street food side of the event over the month.
- Upheld clear and concise communication in order to guide the chefs under a fast-paced environment.
- Assisted in innovating recipes and retaining team morale while delivering under demanding circumstances.

Creative Director · Hypervail — Oct 2025 – Apr 2026
Remote · US AI-native marketing agency

- Creative director on a US pet-grooming brand account, assembling around 50 video adverts for live Meta campaigns.
- Managed up to four projects a week, consistently meeting project milestones.
- Carried out programs from concept to delivery independently, from hooks and scripts, to AI-generated video and images, to finalising details in post-production.
- Built one visual language for the account, including maintaining the visual identity of a second fashion brand.

SKILLS

- Clear, confident communication, within a team and with clients.
- Calm and adaptable under pressure and tight deadlines.
- Sharp eye for detail and consistently high standards.
- Self-motivated: set up my own studio, Forvr Studios, and taught myself AI image and video.
- Open to feedback and challenge, and confident leading a team.
- Organised and reliable, with everything planned and written down.
